FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Child Guidance Center Welcomes New Board of Directors

STAMFORD, CT – The Child Guidance Center of Southern Connecticut (CGC), a non-profit agency providing professional mental health services to children, adolescents, and their families, has named J. Keith Morgan, Jay H. Sandak, Julie Sonigo, and Sigal Zarmi to its Board of Directors.

Morgan, a resident of Scarsdale, NY, is Senior Vice President and General Counsel of GE Capital. Prior to joining GE in 1996, Morgan spent time in private practice specializing in mergers and acquisitions, and securities law and international transactions. He also served in the U.S. Navy Judge Advocate General’s Corps. Morgan holds a B.A. in Economics from Duke University and a J.D. from the University of Virginia.

Sandak, a resident of Stamford, is a Founding Partner of the Stamford law firm, Sandak, Hennessey & Greco, LLP. He has practiced in Connecticut for more than thirty-five years and continues to remain a very active member of the Stamford community through service on many local non-profit boards. He is a former Corporation Counsel for the City of Stamford and was recently appointed to the 17th Charter Revision Commission for the City of Stamford. He is a fellow of the American College of Civil Trial Mediators, a member of the Association of Attorney Mediators, and a member of the American Arbitration Association Panel of Neutrals. Sandak holds a B.A. from Colby College and a J.D. from Syracuse University College of Law.

Sonigo, a resident of New Canaan, is an Audit Partner at Deloitte & Touche LLP and has more than fifteen year of professional experience providing auditing, accounting, and advisory services. Sonigo started her career with Deloitte in France, serving clients in Europe before joining the Deloitte U.S. firms. In the local community, she has actively contributed her expertise in many ways including performing financial reviews for prospective United Way grant recipients. Sonigo holds a Master in Insurance and Finance for the ESSEC Business School, France.

Zarmi, a resident of Stamford, is the Chief Information Officer for GE Capital Americas. Prior to this role, she was the Chief Information Officer (CIO) and Quality Officer of GE Corporate Financial Services. Before joining GE, Zarmi held leadership positions at two financial services firms and worked as a programmer at Motorola. She earned her MBA from Columbia University and her bachelor's degree from the Technion-Israel Institute of Technology in Haifa, Israel.

The Child Guidance Center of Southern Connecticut (CGC) is a non-profit mental health resource, serving children and teenagers in Stamford, Greenwich, Darien and New Canaan, both self referred and through referrals from schools, physicians, courts, and public and private human service agencies. CGC's clinical staff of psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, and other clinicians work with more than 2,000 children annually, providing culturally competent and sensitive care to families representative of the rich ethnic mix of communities CGC serves. Preventative services are provided to youngsters, parents, and professionals through community education and consultation programs. Incorporated in 1954, CGC is supported by the Connecticut Department of Children & Families, Connecticut Office of Victim Crime Services, and the United Way. CGC is a beneficiary of generous individual, foundation, and corporate contributions. www.childguidancect.org
